

Tel. Vos
Jensen Cove

22. 6. 32.

My dear Douglas.

Please, my dear, don't be an idiot. Of course we want you to spend August here in as much peace & comfort as possible, & if my letter read stupidly
- I was feeling stupid, having so did explanations & having to make them. While we are having as difficult a time as is conceivable ourselves.

Look here, I've worked it out with Mrs Manning Saunders, a budget of actual living expenses for the three of you; very plain food - (we'd need ~~extra~~ cream extra for Paddy)
washing & the cost of a maid, & enclose it.

If you can let me have that weakly, come along, I will brighten Paddy up a bit & have a home & a boys for fun.

If this will do, let me know. And my dear, the other question is like. We've only enough for ourselves. Can you bring sheets, pillow-cases, blankets, towels? (or pillows too?) If you can,
I'll see exactly what we have, & send you a bit.

Love to you both

Always -

Jary.

Gabriel says that his old college chum is getting worried, to keep up with these psycho-analytic ^{boundaries} & group down with a foul complex. ^{chills through you with the old} ^{school} ^{is of} ^{downs.} ^{come down, you} ass. Handsome men are sun-browned.

Cost of living for 3 persons, per week.

Food (2) £ 2. 0. 0

" Paddy 15. 0 (1 suppose to eat less.)

Washing (2/6 each) 7. 6.

Quilt £ 1. 0. 0

£ 21. 2. 6

(if we can get Mr
Robert. Olters up to 30/- in August.)