Seuren.

29. 3. 33.

My dearest Aunt.

What ever Miss Harding thinks.

I have no objection to Camilla being allowed.

She is quite old enough to find out how it is done.

The journey is any easy one, with only one change.

So keep the box if you want her.

Of course I wrote to Miss Harding at once. I can't think what happened to it. It just adds one thing more to my complaints against our P.O. (Run entirely by amateurs - the Post Master, a Van-Volman, badly wounded, saying quite cheerfully that he has no idea how much parcels ought to cost, or exactly how to charge ^{send}.

Let alone charge for - say - a foreign telegram!)

However the written affair - I posted it in the box as the cliffs at Van-an-Drecht 11.11 Say a few words next time I pass the actual office - in itself same way from here.

This is haste -

Ever your most loving

Jany

I've written again to ^{I leave it to her but that} Miss Handcup, & in it suggested that if you want the child, I don't see why she shouldn't have it alone
