

Seneca

26. 4. 35.

My dearest Aunt-

I utterly agree with you. It is most worrying. The thinking of writing to J.R. makes not his politics, at present, but his debt to you, my excuse for refusing him. Tho' I'm not sure yet. Must think it over a few days longer.

I hadn't understood, until quite lately, how extreme his politics had become. I wonder & dread all that, & many of the people he will be associating with.
Yet don't want to make him a martyr — You see? It needs most watchful handling

Of course I love those 'Life & Letters'. Even I thanked you. Or didn't I? Oh I didn't, I roll my head in the dust. The editor is a beloved friend & wife.

Did you read the reviews, by him, in the March No? On Frieda Lawrence & Middlela Nany — where he speaks of that delightful Nany 'bamburgh' like a lost candle in a chapel shipped of its furniture? ?

This, in haste, & thank you. I always love to see them. I hate it that you would like them back when finished. Will it do if Camilla brings them? ?

We are off to the Dentist Saturday.

Always -

Your most loving

Jay