Welcombe House.

Welcombe.

in Jude, Cannock.

My dearest Aunt.

So very many thanks for your letter & cheque - was safely in the Bank.

I don't blame me too much for the crisis de neufs - it hurt us me but myself - part of the trouble was that Tony's behaviour the intolerable husband of Fritz justifications for abusing Tony before me. He knew about - the £ 2. 10^s !

I don't know what to say about approaching Tony personally. He will know that we told you & seek further occasion to quarrel with us.

He is furious with me as it is. I had rather thought of writing to Edwin Guinness who is a sharp-

-tongued person without any false delicacy or telling him to make certain that Tony repays him.

But Tony is so angry with me!
I leave it to you.
It was heaphia all right - an injection in my arm which still aches, & a quantity of tablets. I took I had a hard inside, & am now perfectly well.

I enclose two nursing leave letters recommended by my doctor. What do you think? If you think I should go see them, they served all right, let me have them back.

Cecil Naitland is much better - we are making a record of psychic manifestations, still going on, which would interest you.
